

Analysis on Why Women and Children are Vulnerable for Human Trafficking in India

TEAM RECORD KEEPERS

Jeoma Raye Alejandrino Almazan
Mary Joy Lasco
Rico Littawa
Xielo Jeff Manalo
Marnel Javier Valentin

Hi I'm Anna

Hi I'm Jacob

OBJECTIVE

- . To determine why women and children in India are prone to human trafficking.
- To determine the main purpose and agenda of human trafficking in India.
- To be able to raise awareness regarding human trafficking most especially to the country of India and to create solution on how to prevent it.

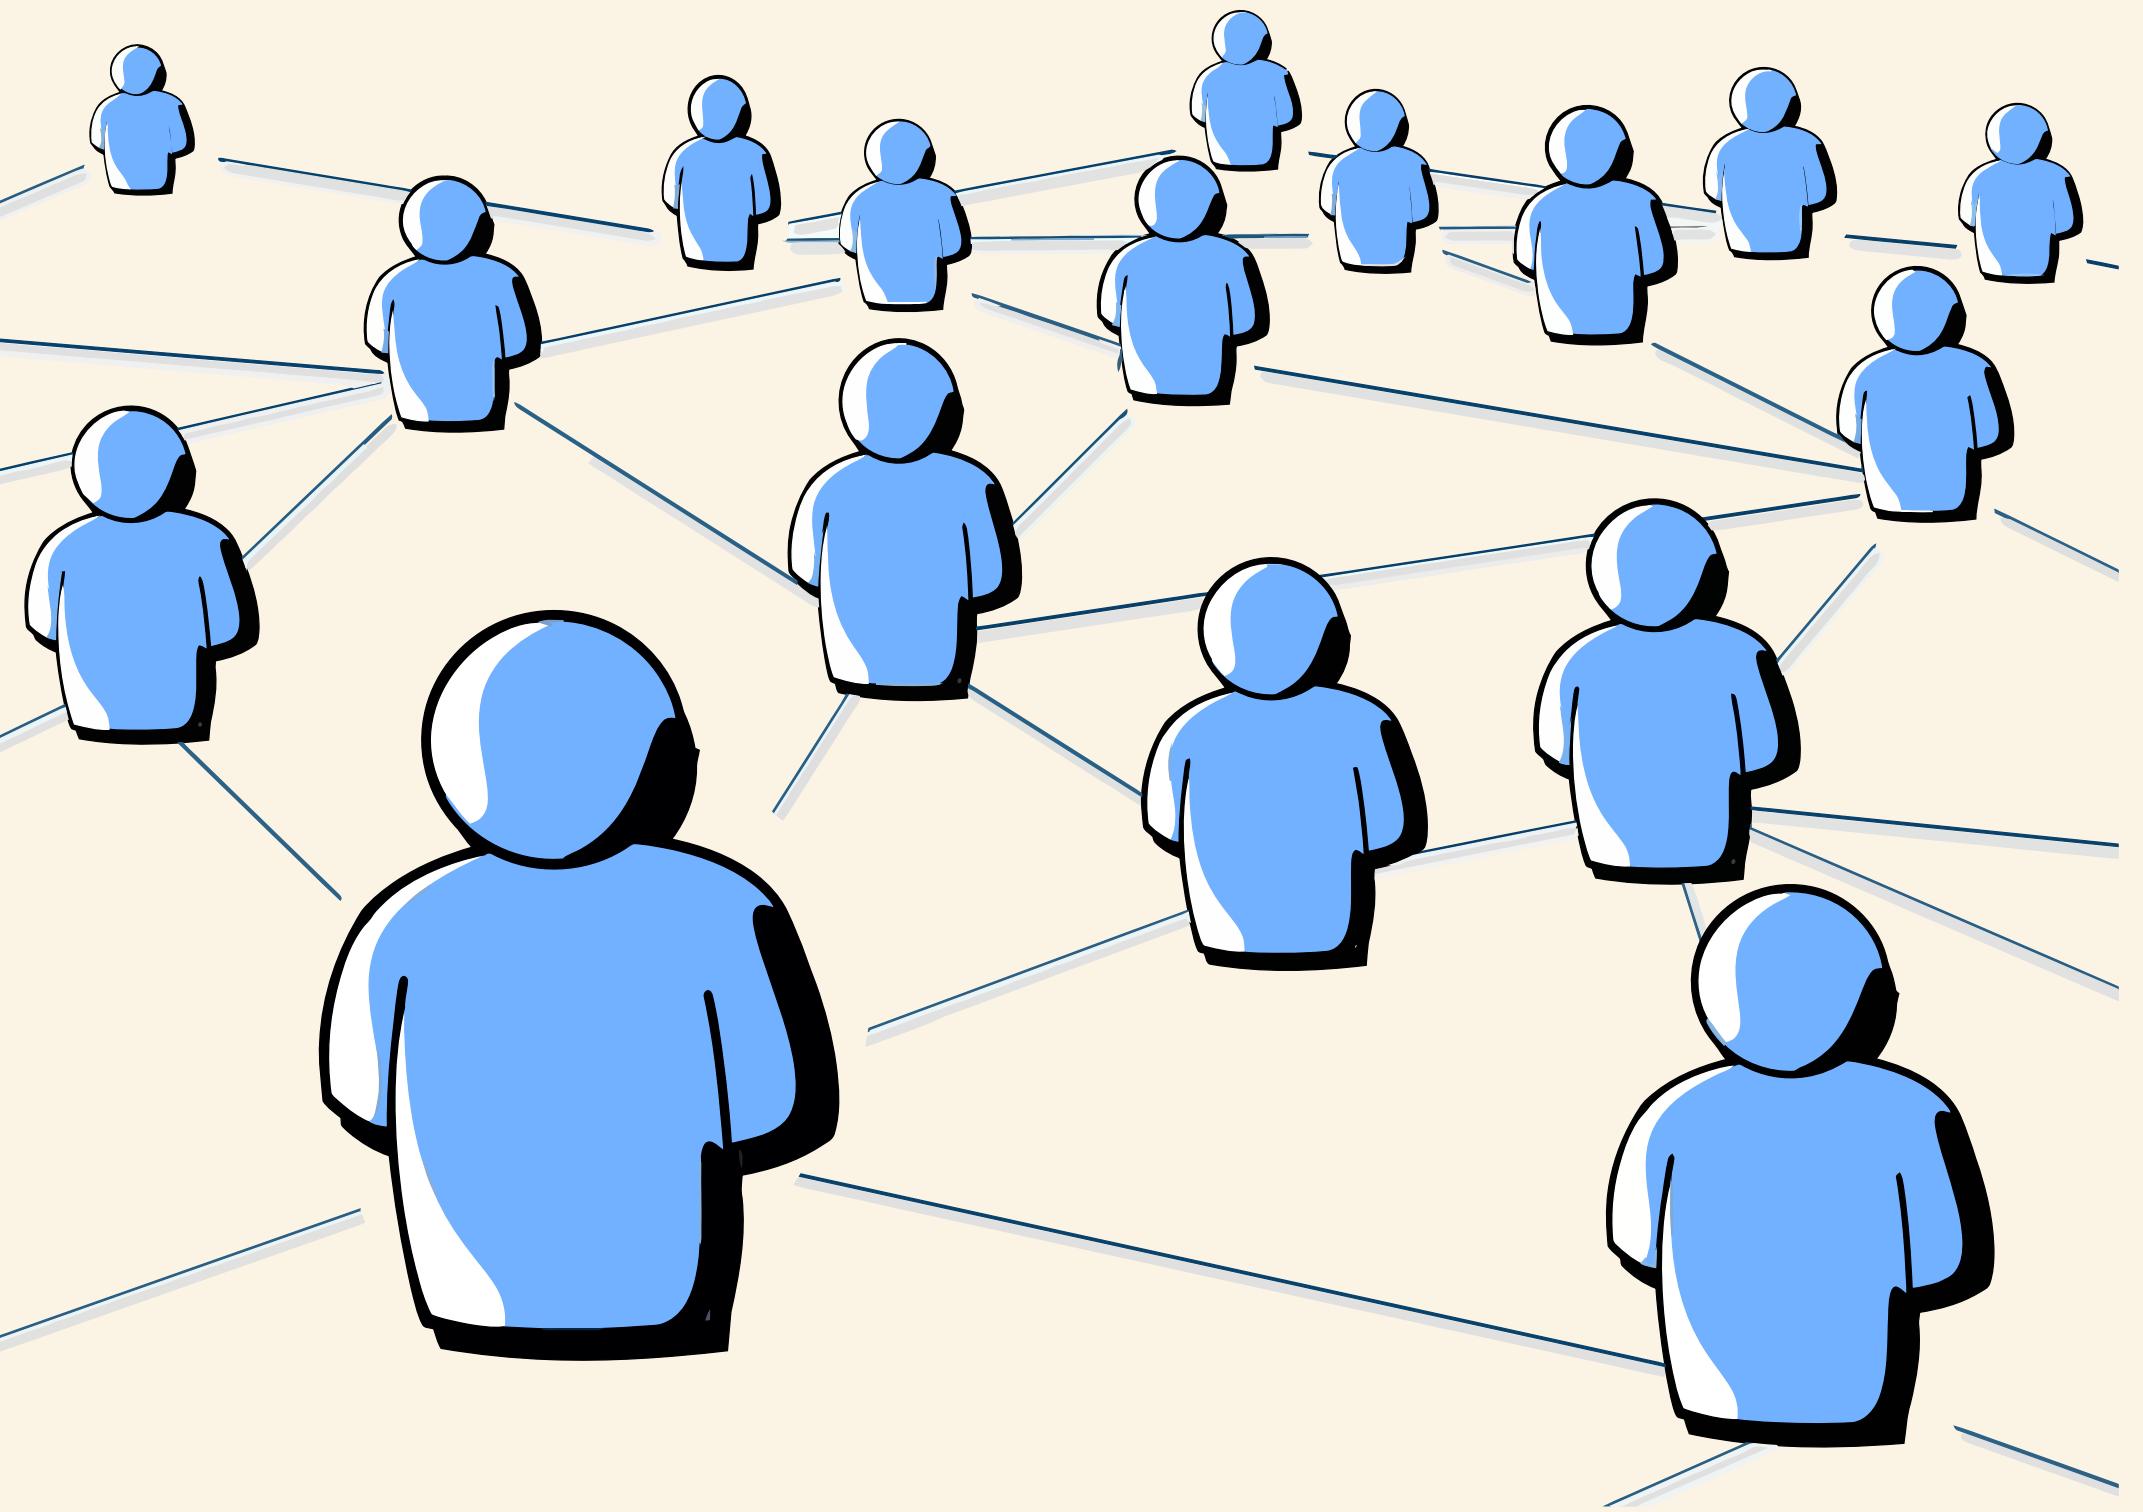

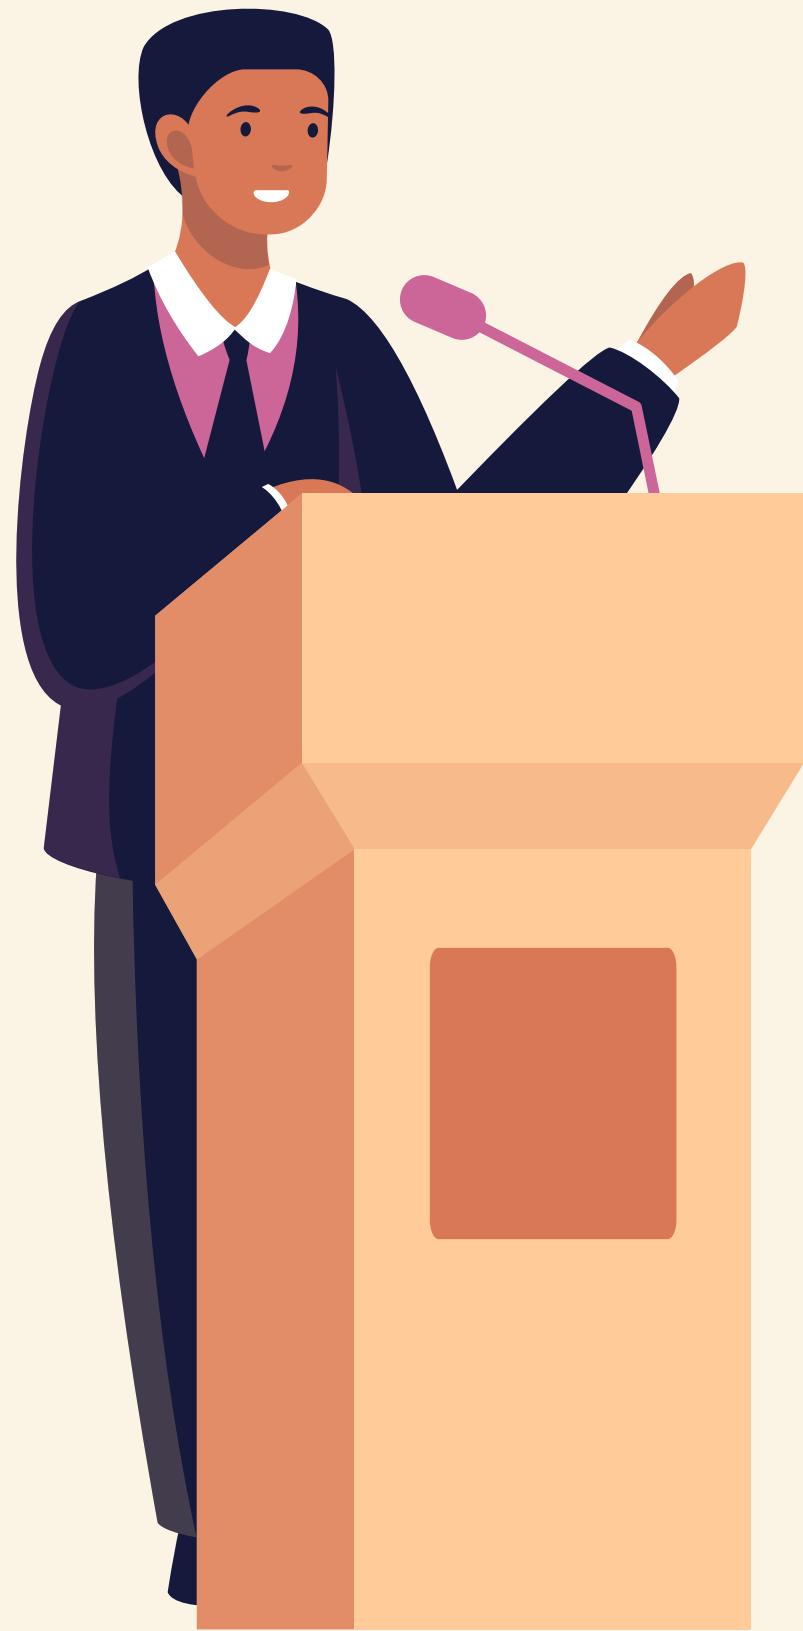

PROBLEM

Why Women and Children are Vulnerable for Human Trafficking in India

PRESENTATION OF DATA

FEMALE VICTIMS

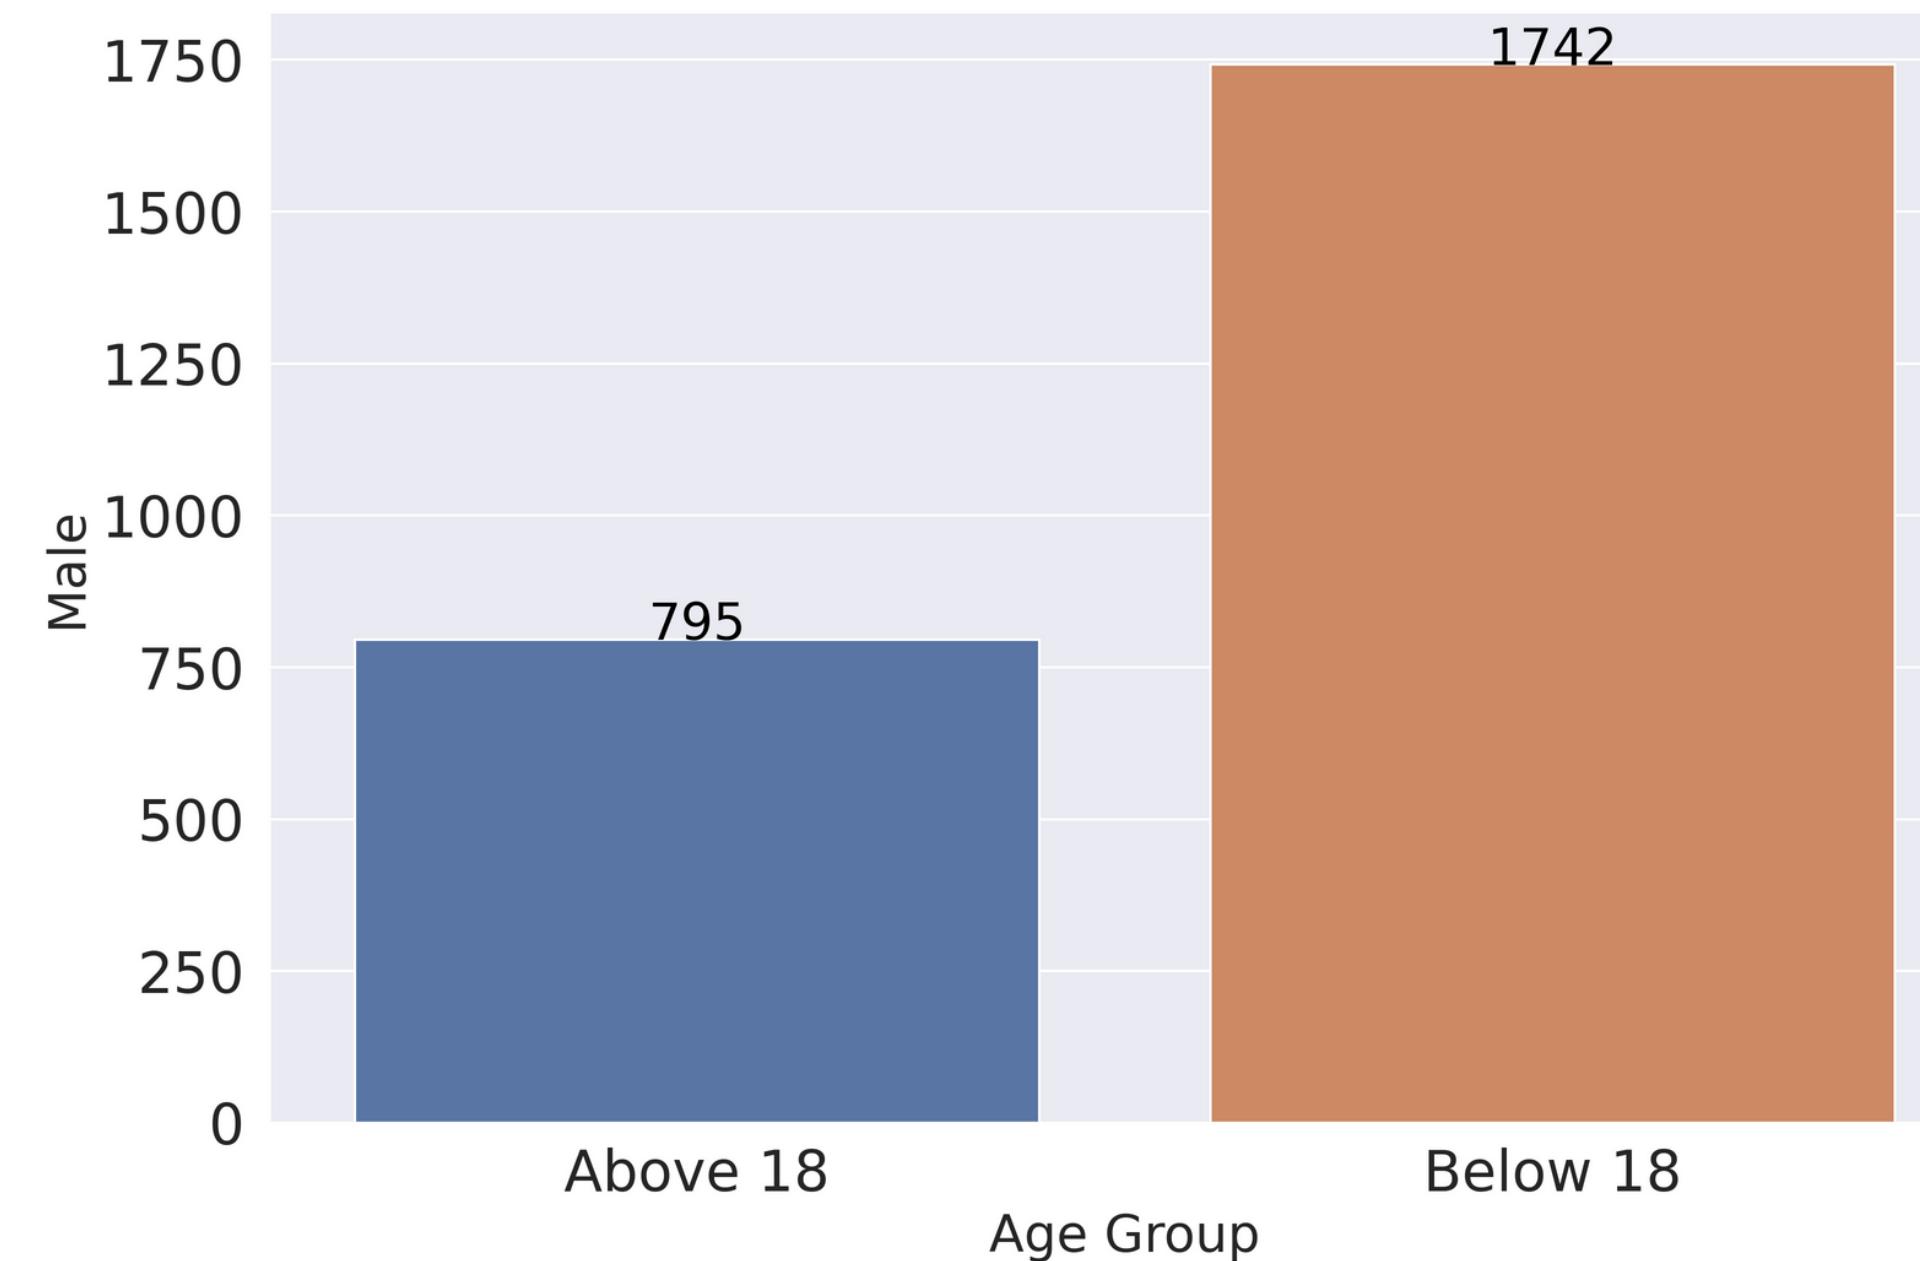

Total Female Victims according to their Age

TOTAL OF 2907
of female victims are above 18

MALE VICTIMS

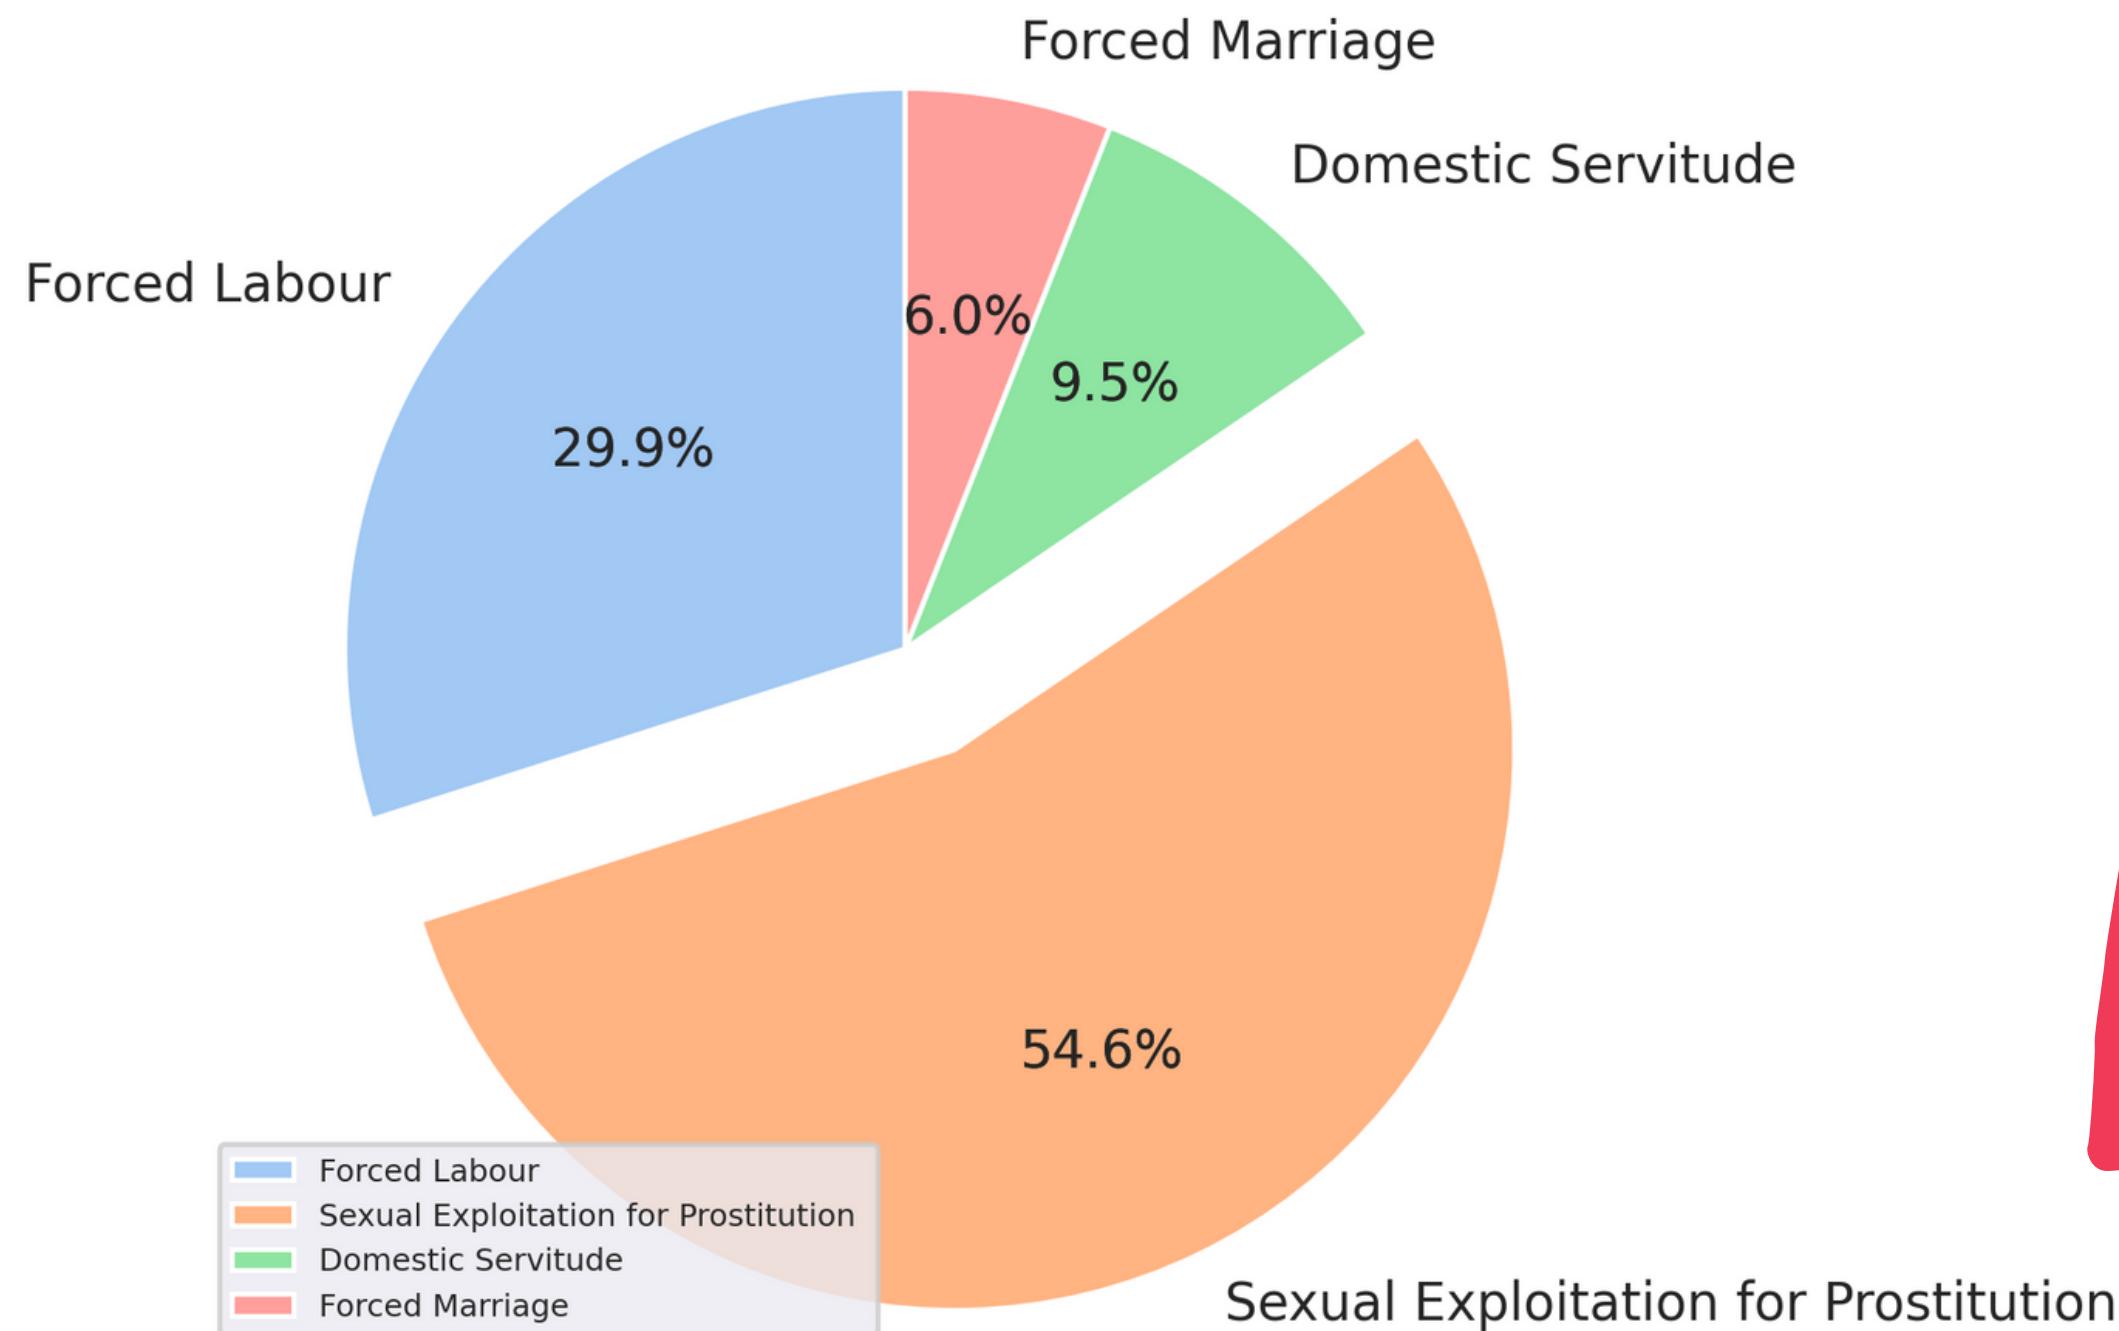

Total Male Victims according to their Age

TOTAL OF 1742
of male victims are below 18

Purpose of Trafficking

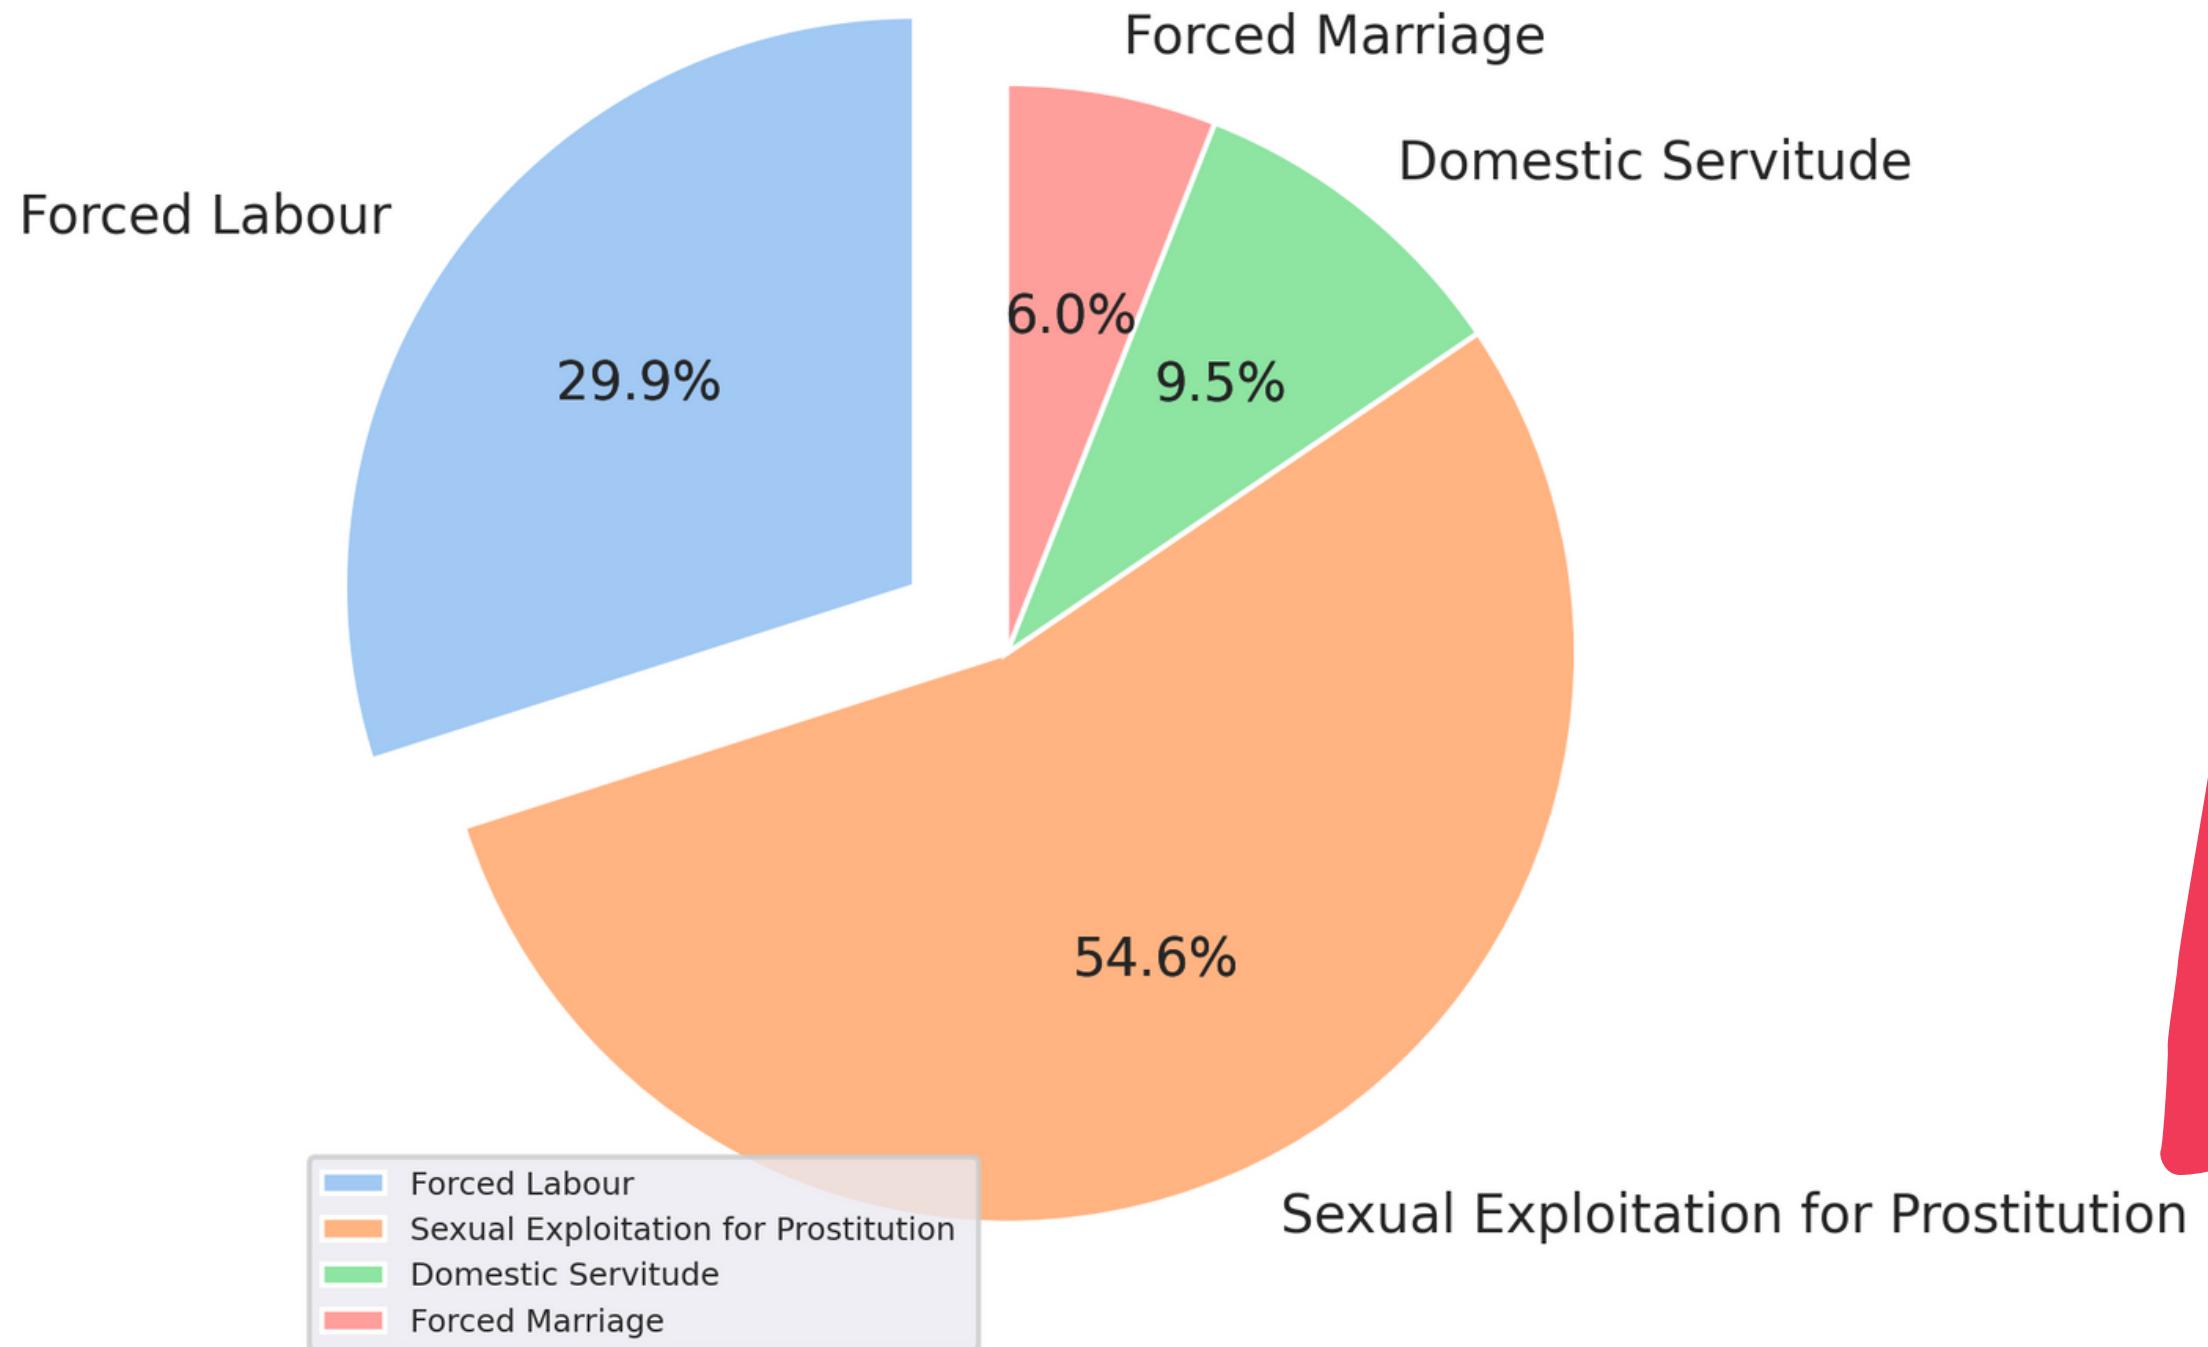

01 Reason

SEXUAL EXPLOITATION

According to the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime's 2009 report, the most common reason for human trafficking is sexual exploitation which is primarily affects women and girls.

Purpose of Trafficking

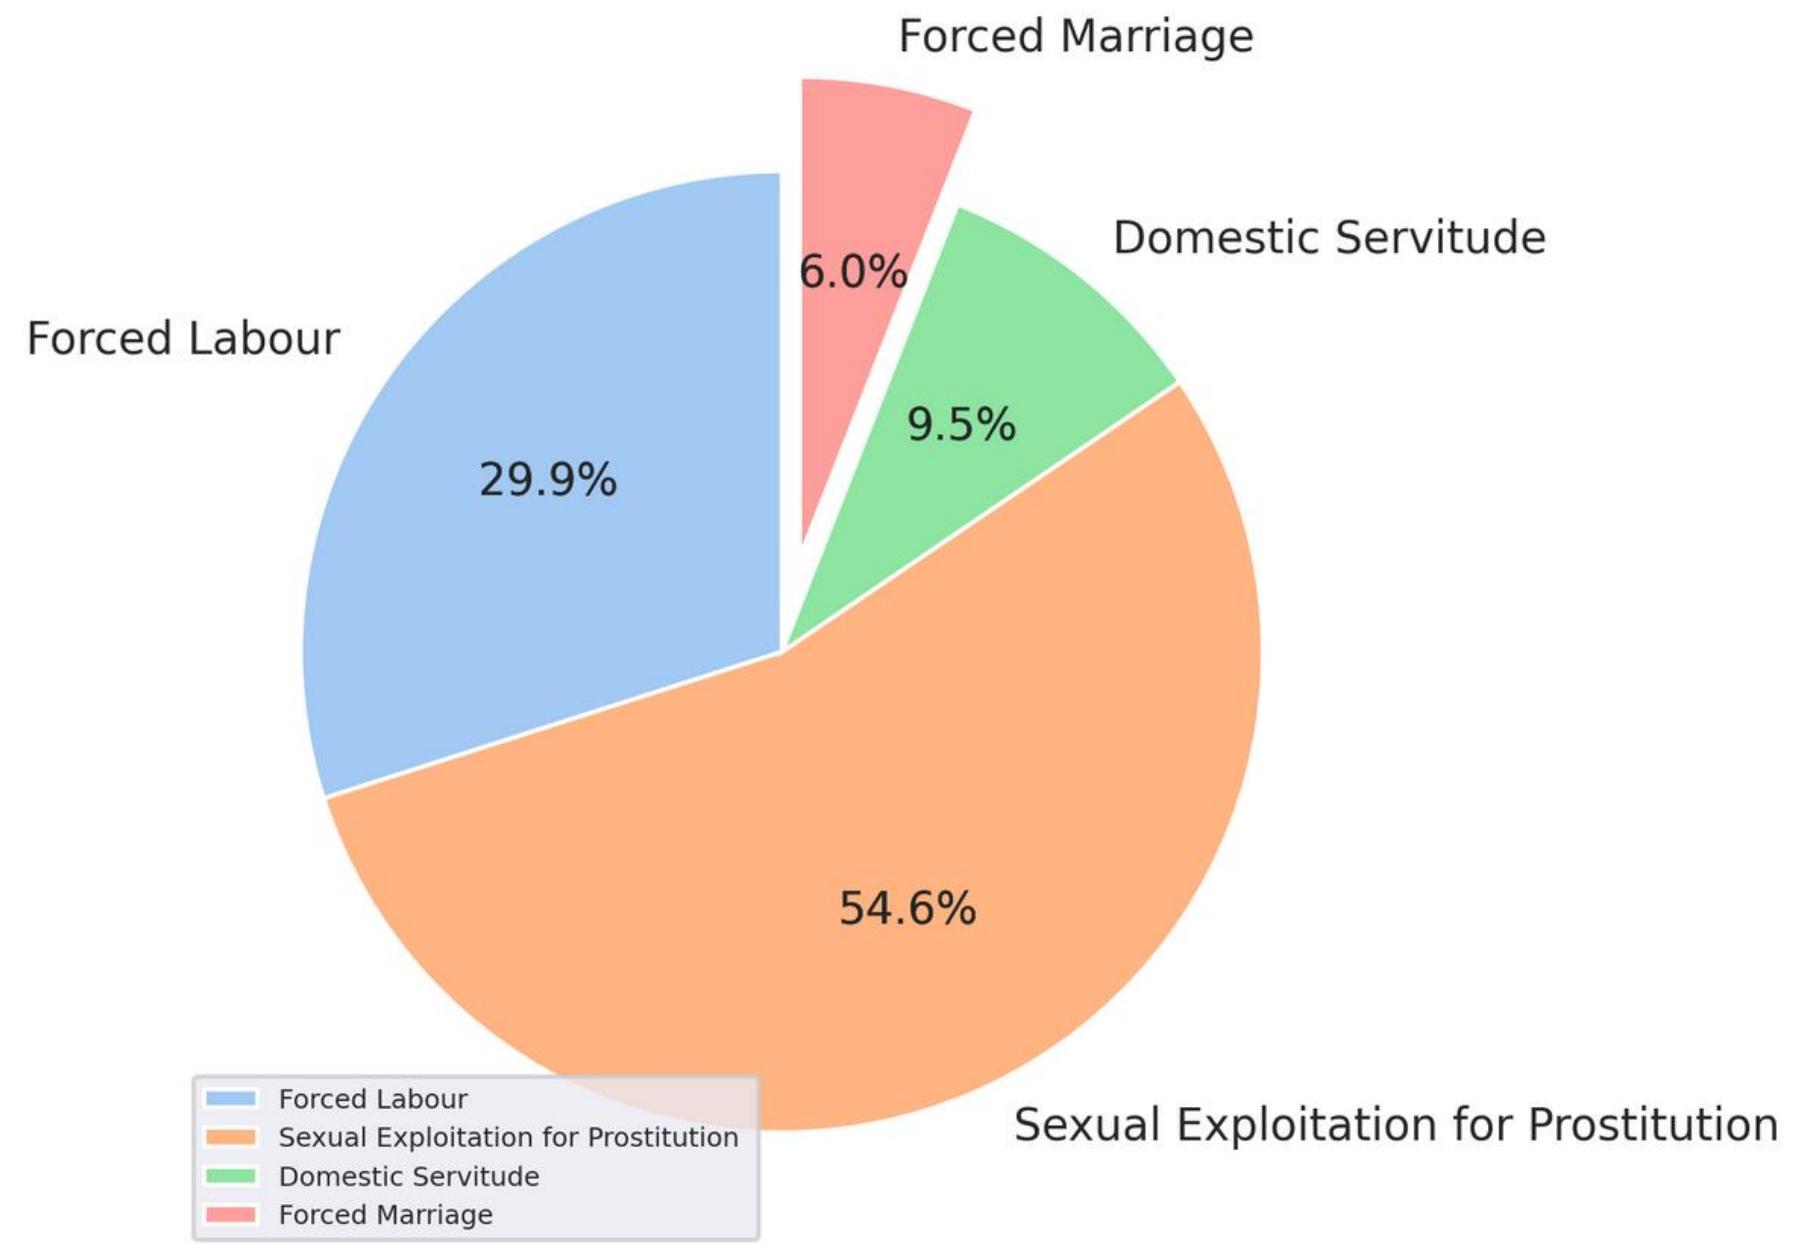

02 Reason

FORCE LABOR

According to the Protocol to Prevent, Suppress, and Punish Human Trafficking in Persons, Particularly Women and Children, between 2012 and 2014, around four out of every ten victims were trafficked for forced labor, with men accounting for 63 percent of the victims.

Purpose of Trafficking

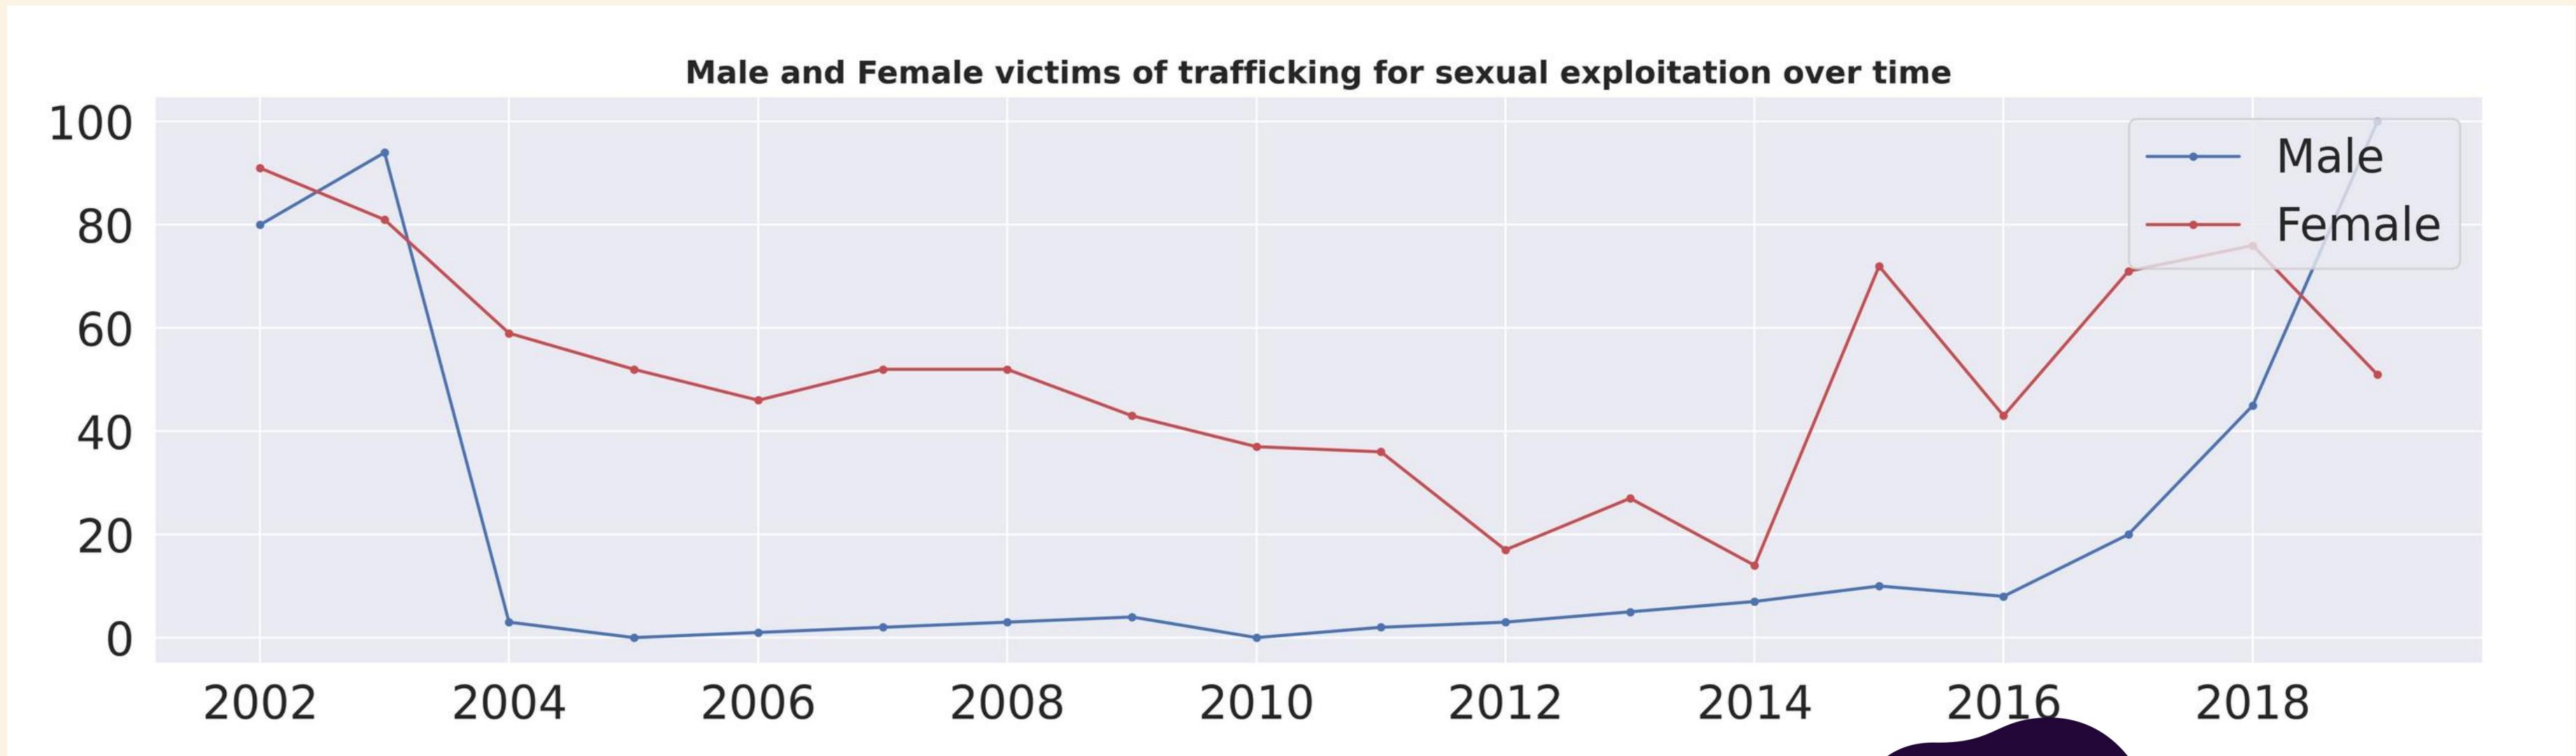

Least common reason

FORCE MARRIAGE

Male and Female Victims for Sexual Exploitation Over Time

YEAR 2018

Up to 2018, the proportion of female victims who were sexually exploited has progressively dropped, while the number of male victims has increased.

Male and Female Victims for Labor Exploitation Over Time

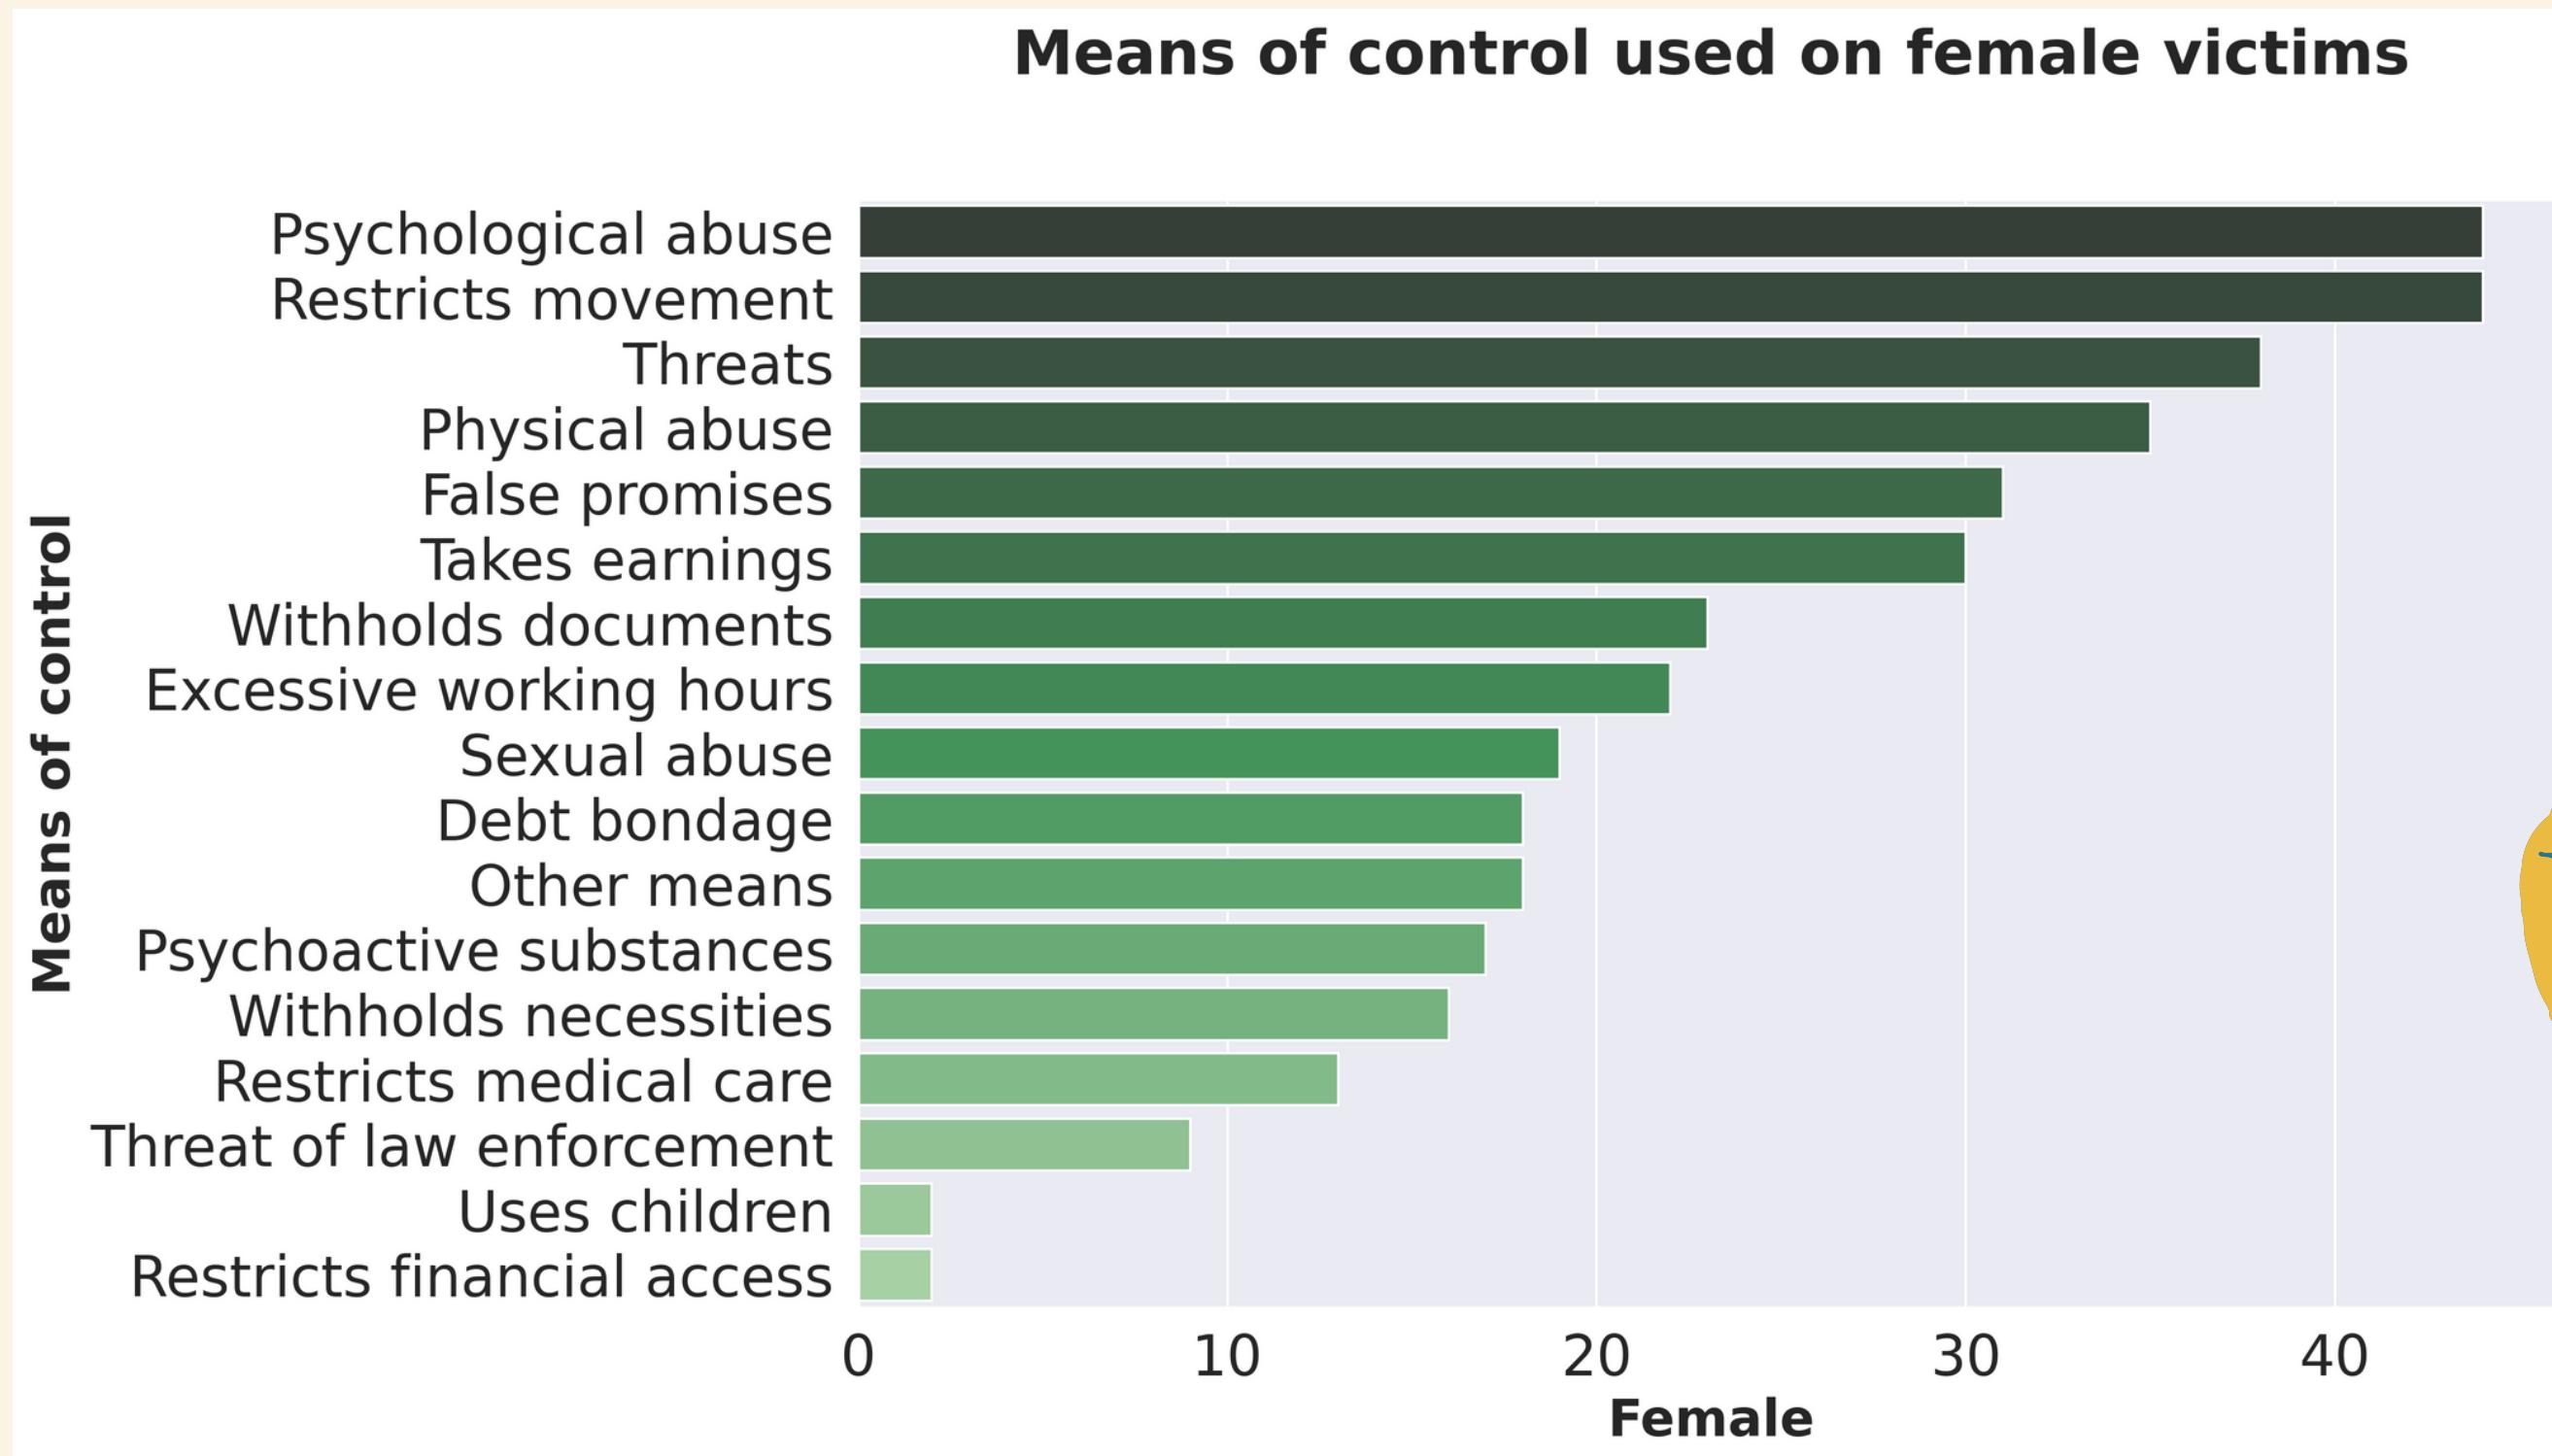

YEAR 2016-2018

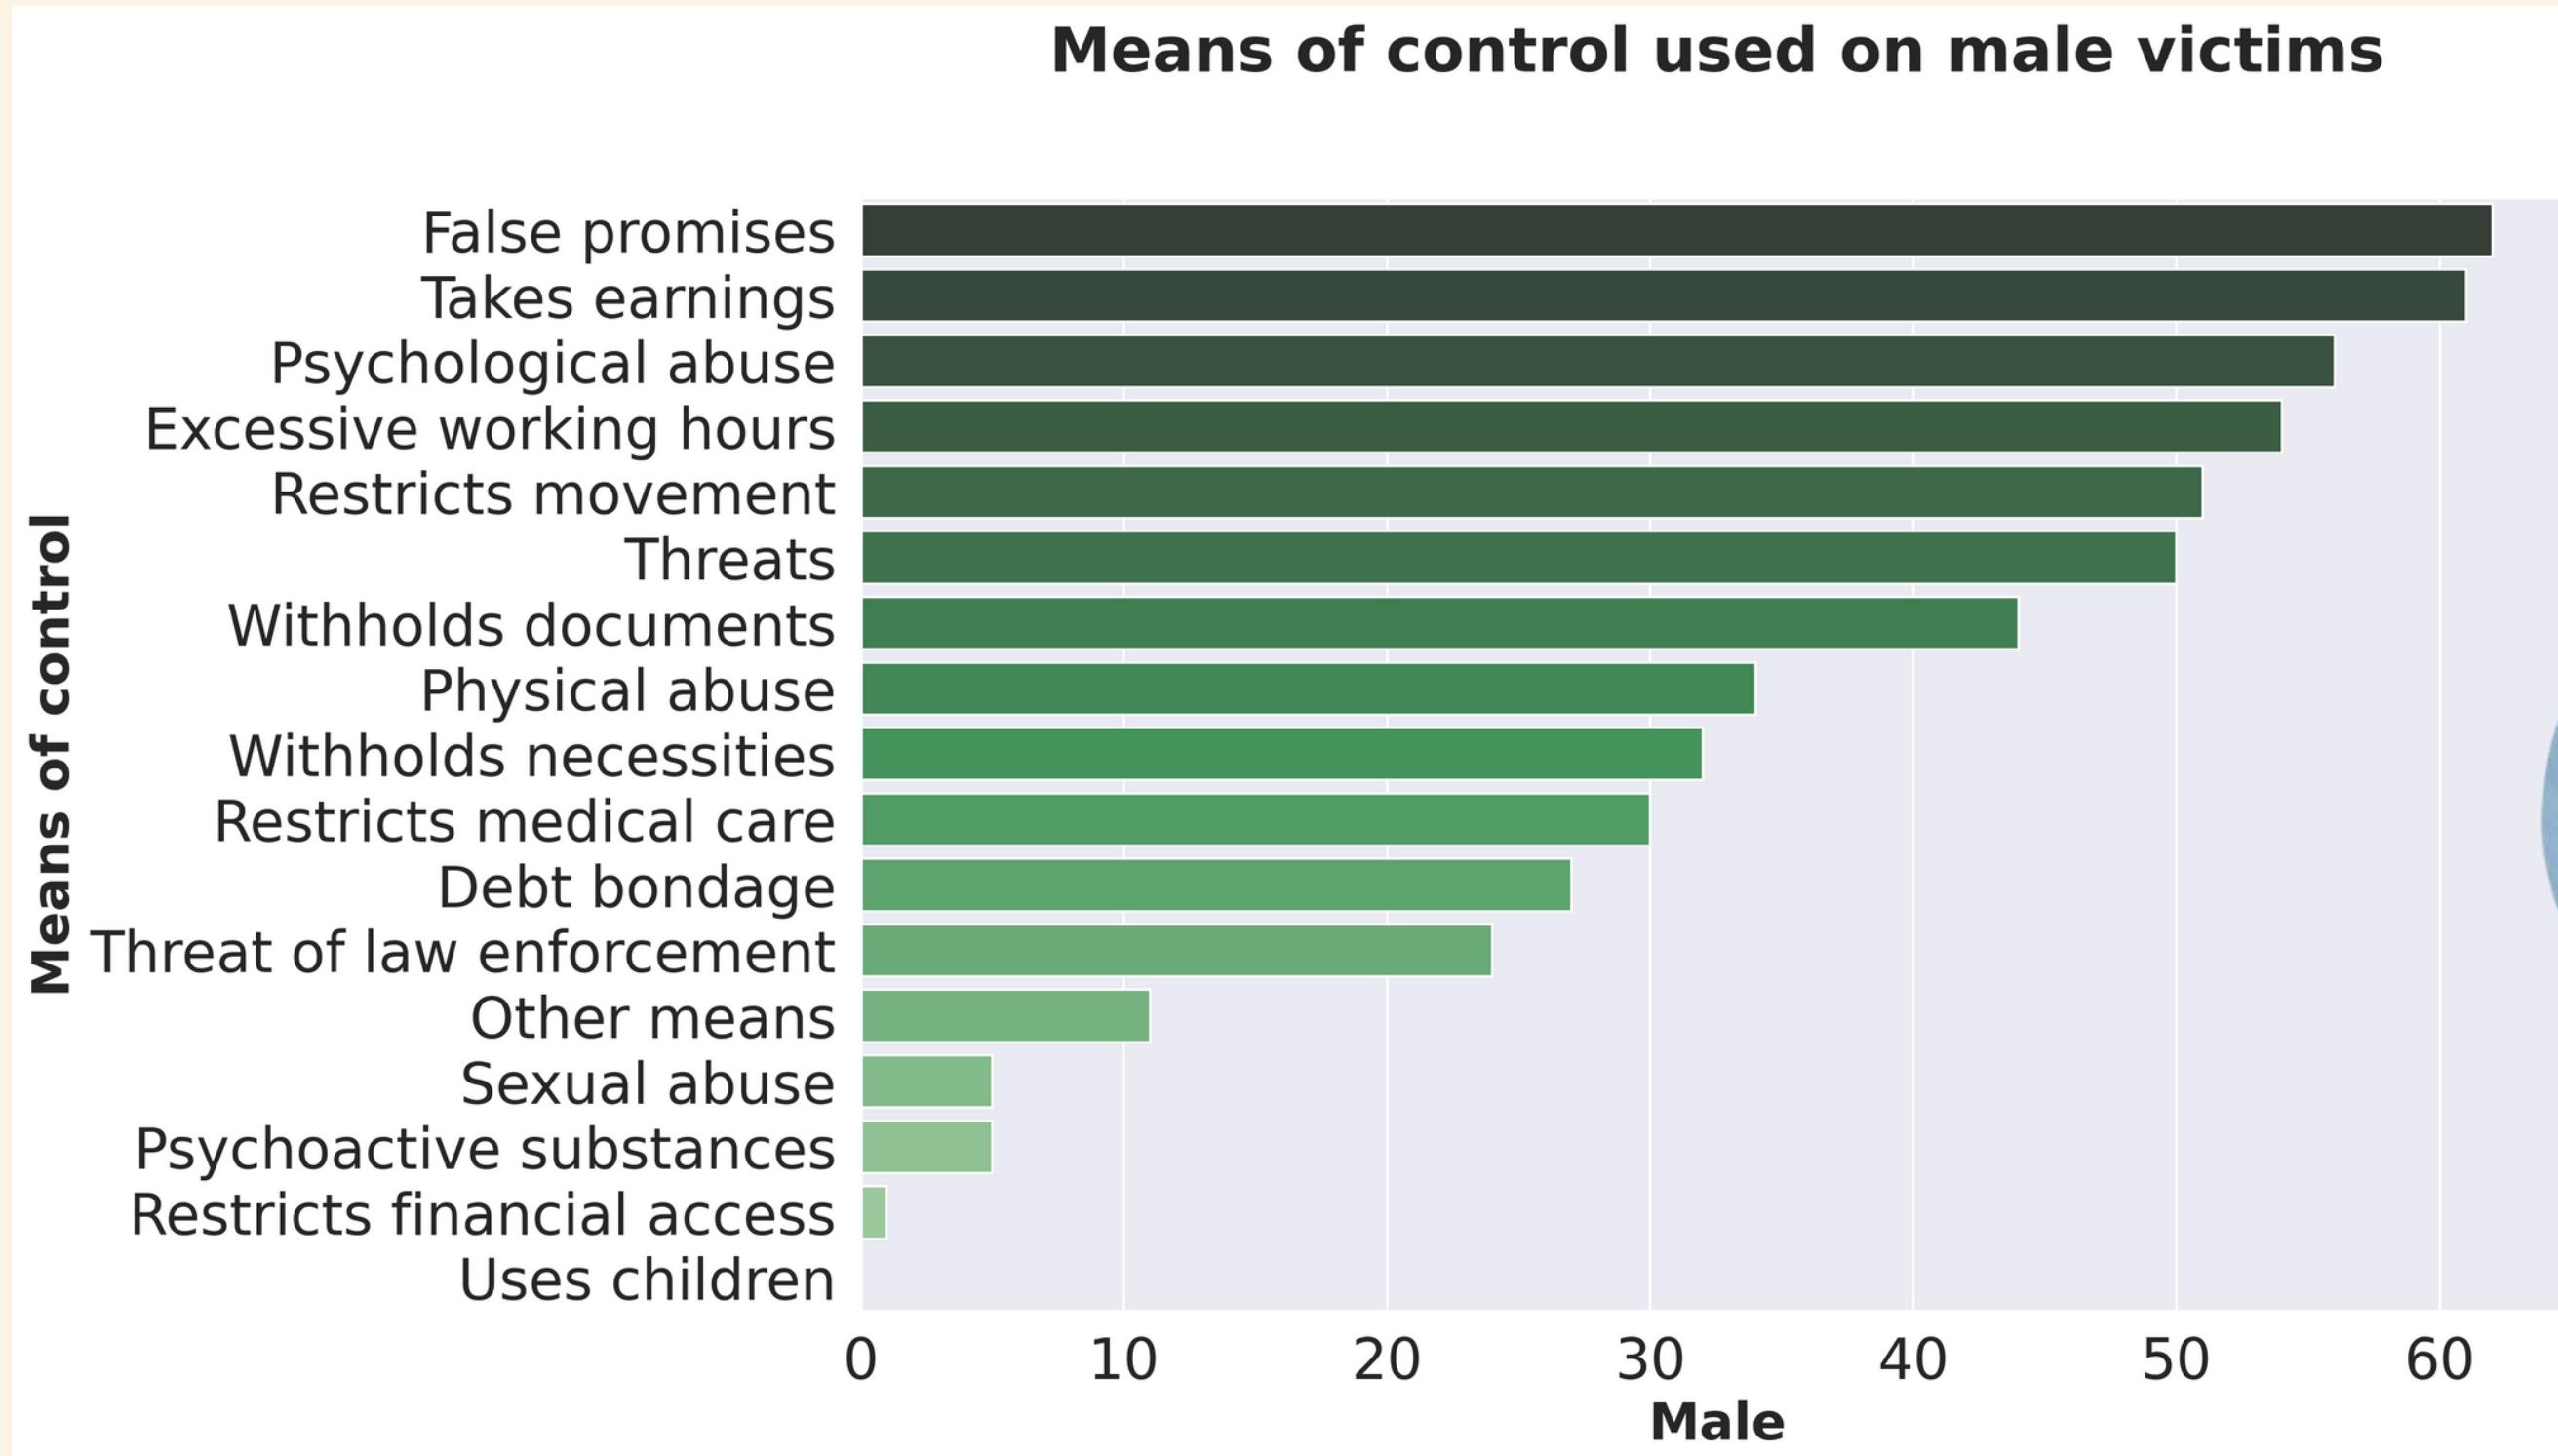

Male victims are decreasing in year 2018 and female victims slightly increased.

Means of Control used on Female Victims

Means of Control used on Male Victims

CONCLUSION

RECOMMENDATION

Thank you

